Lars Korinth returns to the TRATON GROUP as the new Head of Investor Relations

Munich, April 1, 2022 – Lars Korinth will head up the TRATON GROUP's Investor Relations function from April 1, 2022. The 46-year-old already knows TRATON from his time as an executive assistant at its predecessor company Volkswagen Truck & Bus and having spent four years as a Senior Investor Relations Manager at Volkswagen AG. Korinth, who has a degree in banking administration, was most recently Corporate Vice President Investor Relations at Henkel, a consumer and capital goods company — a role he held for over four years. He will be reporting to the TRATON GROUP CFO, Annette Danielski. Korinth has an in-depth knowledge of the energy and banking sectors and spent several years working at international investment banks as an equity analyst.

Annette Danielski, CFO of the TRATON GROUP: "By bringing Lars Korinth on board, the TRATON GROUP is gaining a head of Investor Relations with the best contacts in the capital market and a comprehensive knowledge of the industry. As an expert in the global industrial business, the energy sector, and the automotive industry, he will be a real asset to us both as we expand our portfolio of vehicles powered by alternative drives and establish new fields of business. His profile and how well-connected he is in the international finance sector make him an ideal fit for our corporate strategy. I look forward to us working together."

Lars Korinth is succeeding the TRATON GROUP's former Head of Investor Relations Rolf Woller, who transferred to Volkswagen AG effective December 1, 2021. Marvin Kalberlah has been acting Head of Investor Relations of the TRATON GROUP in the meantime.
